

WARNING SIGNS

Potential Abuser

Warning signs of an offender include a person who:

Is constantly around children, often preferring the company of children to adults.

Unnecessarily touches children.

Breaks and argues that the rules do not apply to him or her.

Gives gifts without the parent's or caretaker's permission.

Talks to children in a child-like manner or does things adults would consider child-like or juvenile.

Entices a child to keep secrets. Takes photographs or keeps mementos of other people's children.

Becomes angry when confronted about his or her interaction with children.

Talks about sex, tells sexual jokes, or discusses sex with a child.

Introduces or shows pornography to a child.

Provides a child with drugs or alcohol.

Singles out or gives special attention to one child while ignoring other children.

Seeks to be or is often alone with a child in a house, car or room.

WARNING SIGNS

Potential Abuser

Warning signs of an offender include a person who:

Is constantly around children, often preferring the company of children to adults.

Unnecessarily touches children.

Breaks and argues that the rules do not apply to him or her.

Gives gifts without the parent's or caretaker's permission.

Talks to children in a child-like manner or does things adults would consider child-like or juvenile.

Entices a child to keep secrets. Takes photographs or keeps mementos of other people's children.

Becomes angry when confronted about his or her interaction with children.

Talks about sex, tells sexual jokes, or discusses sex with a child.

Introduces or shows pornography to a child.

Provides a child with drugs or alcohol.

Singles out or gives special attention to one child while ignoring other children.

Seeks to be or is often alone with a child in a house, car or room.

WARNING SIGNS

Potential Abuser

Warning signs of an offender include a person who:

Is constantly around children, often preferring the company of children to adults.

Unnecessarily touches children.

Breaks and argues that the rules do not apply to him or her.

Gives gifts without the parent's or caretaker's permission.

Talks to children in a child-like manner or does things adults would consider child-like or juvenile.

Entices a child to keep secrets. Takes photographs or keeps mementos of other people's children.

Becomes angry when confronted about his or her interaction with children.

Talks about sex, tells sexual jokes, or discusses sex with a child.

Introduces or shows pornography to a child.

Provides a child with drugs or alcohol.

Singles out or gives special attention to one child while ignoring other children.

Seeks to be or is often alone with a child in a house, car or room.