

NEW EVANGELIZATION NEWSLETTER

Greetings Friends in Christ,

Wishing you and your families a Happy New Year filled with the love and peace of the Lord!

Are you looking for a simple way to grow in your understanding of the Saints? For the past couple of years, I have used a "Saints Generator" tool to choose a Saint to pray with, to focus on and to journey with in prayer. When I was a catechist, I used this tool to help the students in my classroom have a patron and intercessor to help them in their discipleship efforts. It could be used personally or in your ministries such as RCIA, adult faith formation, Catholic schools and religious education work. To use this tool please visit this website.

A new national study will be published on January 16, 2018 regarding emerging young adults, ages 18 - 25, who were raised Catholic but have dropped their Catholic identity. The report can be viewed online here but here are some statistics that should give us pause for thought in our evangelization efforts:

* Approximately 12.8 percent of US young adults between the ages of 18 and 25 are former Catholics, and that approximately 6.8 percent of US teens between the ages of 15 and 17 are former Catholics. In July 2015.

*When asked at what age they no longer identified themselves as Catholic, 74 percent of the sample said between the ages of 10 and 20, with the median age being 13 years old.

An article that I wrote on this subject in 2016 for the Compass urged us to consider "a multi-faceted using strong parent formation, effective and convincing social media and constant invitation and outreach to Catholic families. Relationship building, providing opportunities for young people to encounter Jesus through witness and sharing and giving young people solid, well-reasoned answers to their questions are critical. This is no time to give a watered down version of Catholicism or "dumb down" terminology or the teachings of the church. You can read the entire article by clicking here

Lastly, all are welcome to attend our next NEAT event on January 16th called "Share Your Faith". FOCUS (Fellowship of Catholic University Students) has a highly effective process for discipleship. Kyle Hanson who is a Missionary Team Leader with FOCUS will facilitate our morning. Lunch is included and there is no cost to attend but you must RSVP to Maria Garcia at mgarcia@gbdioc.org or call (920) 272 8276 for planning purposes. All are welcome! Details are below.

TALKING ABOUT WEEKEND
DISCIPLESHIP HOSPITALITY

ALPHA TRAINING UPDATE:

Discipleship Formation:

From the entrance to the altar!

The Alpha trainings have provided great opportunities for parish leaders to exchange ideas and discuss opportunities on how to disciple seekers, newcomers and churchgoers. More specifically, a recurring discussion during the Alpha trainings is how parishes can exercise a discipleship-focused hospitality during the weekend.

In other words, how are parishes identifying seekers, newcomers and visitors on a weekly basis? Is there a visible onramp to parish life for visitors to access before, during or after the weekend liturgies? And as for first time visitors or occasional churchgoers, what incentives do they have to return to the parish in order to continue their spiritual journey of faith?

With the roll out of Alpha courses for engaged parishioners in the fall of 2018, parishes will have the opportunity to invite them and others to further explore the person of Jesus Christ. In fact, the first half of 2018 may be a good time for parish leaders to discuss ways to invite people into the first phase of their discipleship process; namely, that of discovering Jesus.

To get the conversation started, below are excerpts from Fr. James Mallon's book, Divine Renovation Guidebook. Here, he raises some things for parishes to consider as leaders discuss their weekend discipleship hospitality:

- "The goal of hospitality is not just to maximize the pleasantness of a visit to church, but to maximize the potential for this visit to be the first of a series of steps towards becoming missionary disciples.
- "The goal of this process is not just to be friendly or help someone register for the parish, but to help them take their first steps on the journey towards becoming a missionary disciple.
- Questions to discuss with parish staff, key volunteers and other leaders at your parish:
 - "Do you have a clearly defined process to bring people from attending church for the first time to becoming missionary disciples?
 - "How well does your leadership team, staff, ministry leaders know it?
 - "How effective is your process to bring people from attending to being an active part of your community?
 - "How are people with a non-Church background or non-Catholics brought into this process?
- "For us [Catholics], evangelization is not complete until people are brought to the fullness of the Eucharist- the Eucharist can then be the source and summit of the Christian life."

To further explore what an onramp to parish life can look like, please feel free to view the latest version of the Alpha training PowerPoint slides.

Impact

Bring faith to life. Find life in faith.

A sneak peek at what January Impact Brings: JANUARY IS A TIME FOR NEW BEGINNINGS

It is a time for prioritizing and trying again. It is a time for surrender.

Wait, what??? You read correctly, it is a time for surrender.

God is constantly calling us back. God wants to be with us. He desires us, our whole selves. The question we must ask is: are we comfortable surrendering to God's desire to draw close? Surrender is a word that for many of us brings up images of depleted resources and white flags. Surrender is a bad thing that only happens to those who lose an effort. It is something that is forced by a conquering body or a circumstance. It is certainly not something that any sane person would choose to do. Or is it?

Un poco de lo que incluye Impacto en Enero: ENERO ES UN TIEMPO PARA NUEVOS COMIENZOS

Es un momento para volver a priorizar e intentar nuevamente. Es un momento de rendición.

Espera, ¿qué? Has leído correctamente, es un momento de rendición.

Dios nos llama constantemente. Dios quiere estar con nosotros. Él nos desea, todo nuestro ser. La pregunta que debemos hacernos es: ¿nos sentimos cómodos rindiéndonos al deseo de Dios de acercarse a nosotros? Rendición es una palabra que para muchos trae imágenes de recursos agotados y banderas blancas. La rendición es algo malo que sólo sucede a aquellos que perdieron un esfuerzo. Es algo forzado por un suceso o circunstancia. Cierto, no es algo que cualquier persona cuerda decida hacer. O, ¿es eso?

What is Impact?

Impact, is a dynamic, monthly resource to form people as disciples and good stewards who share their gifts and faith, making an impact in their lives and the life of the world.

Each month, Impact includes a one-page full color or grayscale PDF resource, which may be used as a bulletin insert, copied and distributed at parish gatherings, and/or used as part of an on-going adult faith formation initiative.

Ways to help your College Student get a FRESH START for Second Semester

Returning to college for your second semester is a very different experience from heading off to college for the first time. Students heading back to school for their second semester bring their wisdom and their mistakes, their college knowledge and their new life experiences with them. Although neither the anticipation nor the worry may be as high as first semester, students recognize that the start of the second semester of college is another new beginning for them. Parents can help their college students prepare for the reality of the second semester by helping them think about it and plan a few goals before they return to school.

Here are a few suggestions for your student:

Recognize this as a new beginning

Remind your student that the new semester marks a fresh start. They will have new classes, new professors, be in classes with new students. .

Take advantage of confidence gained

Everything was new at the beginning of first semester. Your student may have felt overwhelmed. Now, your student has some confidence in their ability to make friends, to navigate this new college community, to get to class, to talk to professors, to do what they need to do to succeed.

Learn from fall semester

Your student learned a lot during fall semester - both about college life and about themselves. Remind them to review the lessons that they learned and to use that information for a successful second semester.

Be prepared for mixed feelings

It is OK, and even likely, that your student will have some mixed feelings about returning for second semester. There is less build-up and excitement than there was in the fall, so it may seem, in some ways, a bit of a let-down. This is a more thoughtful return to college. Being at home again has had its own stresses, so there may be some relief in returning to being on their own once again. Recognizing that there may be a certain degree of "second semester blues" and knowing that it is a normal feeling may help your student.

This is a good time to get involved on campus

Your student may have been cautious about getting involved in too many activities during her first semester. Second semester is a good time to try to get more involved on campus. Being involved in campus life often helps students academically. Being engaged in the college community will help your student continue to make connections and feel more satisfied with her experiences.

Take advantage of the more realistic picture of college life

With a semester of experience, your student now has a more realistic picture of what may be expected of him in college and what college life involves. Encourage them to build study time into their schedule rather than hoping that they will find time. Encourage them to create a budget to plan their daily expenses.

Think about, and talk about, goals for the semester

New Year's resolutions may be overrated, although many people find it helpful to think about the year ahead. Whether or not they are as formal as resolutions, your student should think about their plans and goals for the next four months. What do they hope to change? What do they hope to achieve? What will be required of them to accomplish these goals? Putting some goals into words - and possibly putting them on paper - will make them more real, and will serve as a reminder as the semester progresses. Thinking about what will be required to reach those goals will give your student a plan of action.

Talk with family members about expectations

The beginning of the second semester is a good time for parents and students to review together expectations for college. Everyone has more experience now. What has worked, and what thinking might need to be revised? Are financial expectations working? Are academic expectations being met? Is everyone satisfied with social choices? This is a good time to communicate as honestly as possible about the successes and shortcomings of the first semester. Make sure that you and your student begin this new semester with some shared expectations.

Helping your student begin the new semester with realistic expectations and goals will help you both to take advantage of the new start. Your college student will be one step closer to the maturity and independence that you want them to have. You will be more comfortable taking one more step back and watching them grow.

Dear friends,

We have just returned from the Fellowship of Catholic University Students (FOCUS) Student Leadership Summit in Chicago. From January 2-6, 30 of our Newman Center people went to be trained in the process of evangelization. They joined over 8,000 Catholic college students from all over the country as well as students from Ireland, England and Austria.

These were the training sessions:

- Developing authentic friendships
- Leading transformative Bible studies
- Spiritual multiplication

In addition to training, each night there was keynote addresses and other impact sessions during the day. Each day began with Mass, with many bishops and over 200 priests. Throughout the week, our students went to adoration daily and confession.

The students have returned with excitement for bring the Gospel of Jesus Christ to their world. With each student, we will be forming an evangelization plan for the people in their lives.

Sincerely though Jesus,

YOUNG ADULT MINISTRY

Young Adult News

Happy New Year! it seems like everyone I know has made a resolution or two for the upcoming year. Lose a few pounds, simplify, make plans to travel more and work less. You know. I used to do that too, but have found if my list has no plan for action -all my good intentions are for nothing! So I make goals these days - with action steps and measurable outcomes. I also have someone hold me accountable for a few of the goals. I have a few ministry goals I would like to share with you here - and maybe you could join me in them!

1. Invite young adults I know to events happening around the Diocese in our regions. There are so many things happening every week - I don't want anyone to miss all the goodness! I live in Sturgeon Bay and the young adult population is not in the pew on the weekends - but they are there! I am ready to step up my game and take a risk or two.

2. Help communities start or build Young Adult ministry. I receive phone calls every week from someone wanting to start up Young Adult ministry and the callers are not always young adults. I am fascinated by this - but it speaks to the awareness happening in the church today and looking more closely at who is missing in our parish communities. There is also a worry about who will care for the people and the parish once our baby boomers are no longer able to do so. Parishes are looking to engage young adults - but need young adults to help them. It's easy to start this up - and if you scroll down, I have listed a few things to help YOU get started today!

3. To be present to young adults. This is something I love to do, but in the busyness of life - it gets relegated to the bottom of my to do list during the day. What I mean by presence is my full attention - listening, accompanying, praying for and with and being available. Who doesn't need someone to listen to concerns, hopes and dreams? Who doesn't need a mentor or guide? It's a perk of my ministry, but it grounds me and makes my work more authentic and real. It's a good goal or practice for all of us - there are people in your circle who need the same. Be open!

4. Dedicated prayer hour each week for you. This isn't a new goal - but is foundational to doing the best I can do for you. Join me in that for all our efforts in Young Adult ministry across the Diocese. Happy goal setting! Happy 2018!

Puerto Rico Project Update

The trip to Puerto Rico is now a beautiful memory - and also a persistent tug at my mind and heart. Emily Jenks, Maria Garcia and I were in Puerto Rico from December 18-23. We went on behalf of our young adult community, our Hispanic community and our Diocese. The dinner hosted in November brought in over 18,000.00. I know. It is unbelievable, generous, gracious and abundant. It helped us bring nearly 400 families food for Christmas dinner and beyond. So , just a few highlights here:

The devastation to the land and people is overwhelming. We stayed in an area that still did not have electricity and many no running water. The debris from the storm is piled in the streets - it is unbelievable to see. Telephone and electricity poles lying on houses and in streets with cables dangling everywhere. Ruined furniture, appliances and family memories, stacked outside uninhabitable homes. People - feeling forgotten and frustrated, worried and sad. In contrast to that - we met and worked with local parishes who were excited, hopeful, grateful and ready to work and serve.

We stayed with kind and generous people who offered their food, beds, flashlights and friendship. In each of the four parishes we met the same thing - prayerful, faithful people with inner joy, dignity, grace and generosity. We felt right at home, sharing our message that the Diocese of Green Bay haven't forgotten them - our gift was just a reminder to them that they are in our prayers and thoughts and we are in solidarity.

The money raised couldn't fix Puerto Rico, but we did do something just as important - brought hope and a reminder at Christmas that God is here - Jesus has been born into the world once again - and we are charged with bringing that news and hope! We know more is needed and we are in the midst of making plans for that soon. If you are interested, contact Jane Angha at 920-272-8304 or email jangha@gbdioc.org.

Want to start YA Ministry?

1. Pray for it to happen, pray for young adults in your community, pray for wisdom, passion and enthusiasm!
2. Gather people interested in starting YA ministry no matter what their age - but make sure the voice of YA is loud and clear. Meet, plan, pray and offer events!
3. Make a list of all the parish and community do right now that YA could engage in.
4. Make a list of what is missing, what they are interested in, what they need the church to be for them. (this could be a little survey sent out too)
5. Take a leap of faith and offer a fun social event to start with - low key, fun, good food, opportunity for getting to know each other, non-threatening and simple. (Meet up at a bar and grill - offer to buy the apps. Plan an outing to a local event - buy coffee after. Offer a board game night with drinks and snacks. Invite a fun speaker in and have a fab social after with good food, music and door prizes.
6. Gather contact info at every gathering and begin to communicate.
7. Create social media platform for connecting. Give someone this awesome responsibility.
8. Invite feedback.
9. Invite new ideas and affirm them!
10. Put on some of those new ideas and encourage leaders to come forward.

There are four areas to concentrate on with Young Adults:

1. Social - building community and relationships.
2. Spirituality - grow faith, deepen spirituality, invite to worship, bible study. sacraments...
3. Service -do something for others - together. It gives purpose and meaning to life!
4. Leadership - let young adults lead, offer training, resources and support.

You can do this! If you need ideas, support or help, just contact a regional coordinator near you or call Jane at 920-272-8304
